YOUR RIGHTS AS A BUYER · 30 DAYS

30 days to reject faulty goods and get a refund.

Not a shop's returns policy — the Consumer Rights Act 2015. Faulty, not as described or not fit for purpose: the first 30 days give you a refund, not a repair.

THE 30 DAYS, PRECISELY

30

The clock starts the day after the goods are yours and delivered. Ask for a repair or replacement and the clock stops — if they come back still faulty you have at least 7 days from then.

> A refund must be given without undue delay and in any event within 14 days of the trader agreeing you are entitled to one.

WHO DOES NOT HAVE THE 30 DAYS

private

Buying from a private individual rather than a trader puts you outside this Act. So does buying wholly or mainly for your own business — but a buy that was mainly private keeps you a consumer.

> Perishable goods have a shorter window. After 30 days you still have repair or replacement.
