CAPITAL GAINS TAX · UK PROPERTY

Sold a property that was not your home? You have 60 days.

60 days from the day the sale completed, not from exchange of contracts. Inside those 60 days you report AND pay.

IT IS A SEPARATE RETURN

60

It is not the Self Assessment return. It goes through a separate HMRC account for property. If you file Self Assessment anyway, the sale goes on that as well.

> The rate is 18% or 24% of the gain, depending on which band it falls in. The first £3,000 of gains in the whole year is not taxed.

WHO DOES NOT REPORT IN 60 DAYS

0

Your only home, lived in the whole time you owned it: usually nothing to pay and nothing to report. And where no tax is due, no return is needed.

> That is the rule for UK tax residents. If you are not one, the rules are different — see gov.uk/report-and-pay-your-capital-gains-tax. Shares and commercial property go on the Self Assessment return.
