

SELF ASSESSMENT · DEADLINE 31 JANUARY 2027

One day late costs £100.

And the £100 is charged even if you owe no tax at all. Even if the return comes out at nil. Even if you have already paid in full.

WHAT IT GROWS TO

£900

Three months late, HMRC can add £10 a day, up to £900. At six months and again at twelve, another 5% of the tax or £300 — whichever is greater.

> Paying late is counted separately: 5% of what is still unpaid at 30 days, then again at 6 and 12 months, with interest running every day.

WHO DOES NOT PAY THE £100

0

The penalty is for a return HMRC asked you for. If you were never sent one, there is nothing to file. And if you no longer need to file, HMRC can cancel the penalty.

> Tell them in good time, before 31 January — leave it too late and the penalty stands. A reasonable excuse (hospital, a death in the family) can also be appealed, online or on form SA370.

SELF ASSESSMENT · DEADLINE 31 JANUARY 2027

Not sure whether you have to file?

Message us and we will check it with you, in good time. No obligation.

0330 133 1886

General information. For your own situation, speak to an accountant.