PAYE · THE P800 LETTER

HMRC may owe you money and not have told you yet.

When too much tax has come off your wages, HMRC sends a tax calculation letter — a P800. Those letters go out between June and the following March, so yours may simply not have arrived.

HOW THE MONEY ARRIVES

5 days

If the P800 says HMRC will post a cheque, it comes on its own in 14 days. If you can claim online, 5 working days. If you ask for a cheque yourself, up to 6 weeks.

> The money comes from HMRC, never through a link. HMRC never offers a tax rebate over social media.

WHO DOES NOT GET A P800

4 years

If you file Self Assessment you get no P800 at all — your refund is worked out in the return instead. The P800 is for employees and people drawing a pension.

> You have 4 years after the end of the tax year to claim tax you overpaid. Miss that and normally it can no longer be claimed.
