SAVINGS · HELP TO SAVE

Put in £50 a month, the government adds £25.

The account is called Help to Save and the government adds 50% of what you build up. Over four years: £2,400 in at most, and up to £1,200 of bonus.

THE BONUS IS NOT MONTHLY

50%

It comes twice: once after 2 years, once after 4. The first bonus is 50% of the highest balance you reached in the first two years.

> The second is 50% of however much you push that highest balance up in years 3 and 4. It is paid into your bank account rather than the savings account, and it is tax free.

WHO CANNOT OPEN ONE

£1

You need Universal Credit and take-home pay of £1 or more — after tax — in your last monthly assessment period. Without Universal Credit the account cannot be opened.

> One account per person, once ever; in a couple each person can have their own. Withdrawing does not take back a bonus already earned, but the second bonus is measured on growth — so you have to put back everything you took out before earning any more, at £50 a month.
