EXPENSES · WORKING FROM HOME

Work done at home comes off your profit, from £10 a month.

Self-employed and doing the work at home? The flat rate stands in for the home's running costs — cleaning, heat and light, metered water.

THE AMOUNT, BY HOURS A MONTH

£26

25 to 50 hours in a month → £10. 51 to 100 hours → £18. 101 hours or more → £26.

> Example: 60 hours a month, all year — 12 × £18 = £216 off your profit. A month, or part of a month, carries the full band. Keep a record of the hours.

WHO CANNOT USE THE FLAT RATE

25h

Limited companies cannot use it, nor a partnership with a company as a partner. Under 25 hours in a month you take nothing that month; other months are fine.

> It replaces only the home's running costs. Rent, council tax, insurance and repairs come on top, but only if part of the home is used solely for the trade. Phone and internet: business share, or in full if private use is small.
