SAVINGS · BANK INTEREST

Your bank pays you interest.

The first £1,000 is tax free.

On the basic rate of tax you get £1,000 of savings interest a year that nobody taxes. You do not claim it — you simply have it.

HOW MUCH, BY YOUR RATE

£500

Basic rate: £1,000 tax free. Higher rate: £500. Additional rate: nothing. In Scotland, your payslip rate is not the one here.

> Your rate is worked out on all your income, interest included.

WHO GETS NOTHING FROM IT

£0

If you pay tax at the additional rate you get nothing here: every pound of the interest your bank pays you is taxable.

> It is not a payment — it is interest left untaxed. No interest, nothing.
