PAYE · THE P800 LETTER

HMRC may owe you money and not have told you yet.

When too much tax has come off your wages, HMRC sends a tax calculation letter — a P800. Those letters go out between June and the following March, so yours may simply not have arrived.

HOW LONG THE MONEY TAKES

up to 6 weeks

If the P800 says HMRC will post a cheque, it comes on its own in 14 days. If you can claim online, 5 working days. If you ask for a cheque yourself, up to 6 weeks.

> Asked for personal or financial details in exchange for a refund? That is a scam: do not open the link, do not reply.

WHO DOES NOT GET A P800

0 letters if you file

If you file Self Assessment you get no P800 at all — your refund is worked out in the return instead. The P800 is for employees and people drawing a pension.

> You have 4 years from the end of the tax year you overpaid in to claim the money back. Past that you cannot, bar a few narrow routes in HMRC's manual.
